

Above: CNU students (from left) Manjinder Samra, Steven Narine, Thomas Weber (CNUCOM class of 2021), Sally Ahad, and Sehra Rahmany, represented CNU while demonstrating excellent instruction on CPR to community members at the ALLDATA Health and Safety Wellness Fair.

CNU Students Volunteer at ALLDATA Health and Safety Wellness Fair

Several CNU students volunteered to represent the University at the ALLDATA Health and Safety Wellness Fair on Thursday, May 18.

The students manned a CNU booth while demonstrating to community members the proper forms to use while performing CPR and routine blood pressure checks.

The goal of the Health and Safety Wellness Fair was to provide basic health screenings, self-care information, first aid and emergency preparedness and nutritional information to ALLDATA employees and community members.

Above: Medical student and current EMT Sehra Rahmany takes a community member's blood pressure and explains the importance of blood pressure in the scope of his overall health.

Above: Medical students Manjinder Samra, Sally Ahad, and Thomas Weber (CNUCOM class of 2021) teach two community members the correct techniques for CPR.